EXPANDED PRODUCT OFFERINGS POSITION AMERICHEM AS "YOUR COMPLETE COMPOSITES PARTNER"

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (October 5, 2017) – Americhem Inc., a global leader in the production of color and additive solutions for polymeric building products, has expanded its line of offerings for producers of composite decking and other composite products. The company’s composite offerings are now summarized by the tagline “Your Complete Composites Partner.”

“Unlike other suppliers in the composites industry, Americhem has a full range of offerings to suit any manufacturing process, end-product use and aesthetic preference,” said Mark Juve, business director, extrusion for Americhem. “We deliver our products in a multitude of forms including masterbatch, precolored capstock compounds, dry blends, additives, special effects and more.”

Americhem is now positioned to provide an expanded offering of world-class products and services to the building products industry, including compounds based on enhanced PVC alloys, TPEs and engineered polymer composites. This creates the opportunity to reshape and improve the customer experience and innovation. The combined product lines, brands and expanded product categories create one of the most extensive offerings in the industry.

“Most polymeric building products providers know Americhem for our masterbatch products,” Juve continued. “Now, with our partnerships and 75 years of product knowledge, we are able to create new product categories, especially in the compound arena. For example, we are able to offer enhanced PVC technologies to our customers thanks to Vi-Chem’s 35 years of PVC compound experience.”

With the added products and technologies, customers can take advantage of Americhem innovations no matter how their composite products are manufactured. The company's track record of world-class product development enables unique building products with the best performance attributes in the field. This gives composites producers the ability to change the status quo, helping them deliver real value and a fast track to a vital, competitive edge.
